In Their Own Words

“Since doing the Amazing Futures programme, I have gained so much confidence and social skills. I have enjoyed the experience of learning new skills and meeting lots of new people both with and without disabilities. The skills Amaze have taught me will help me and will stay with me for life. For this I thank Amaze and will be continuing with their peer support programme.”

- Sammy, aged 19, Participant in The 'Amazing Futures' Project of Amaze, Brighton, UK

A grant from IICF funded The ‘Amazing Futures’ Project, which allowed 18 young people with SEND (Special Educational Needs and Disabilities) to train as peer supporters and 56 young people with SEND to receive peer support – to improve their confidence, knowledge and aspirations for finding employment and leading independent lives.

IICF is honored to have represented the insurance industry as its philanthropic foundation for the past twenty-five years, giving voice to the incredible and collective good works of insurance companies and individuals in the communities where we live and work. Through generous industry support, and its steadfast dedication to helping those in need, IICF has granted nearly $29 million to community nonprofit and charitable organizations throughout the United States and United Kingdom.

We have contributed to the vital work of hundreds of nonprofits focused in the areas of early childhood literacy; homeless and veterans causes; support of women, children and families; food insecurity; child abuse prevention; disaster preparedness and safety, and so much more. We’ve made meaningful impact through the IICF Community Grants Program, leadership of IICF board members and supporters, and IICF industry volunteers.

“In the life of the IICF volunteer programs, we have involved more than 100,000 insurance industry employees in community volunteer projects across the U.S., and over the last two years in the U.K,” said Bill Ross, CEO of the Insurance Industry Charitable Foundation. “It is incredible to see the continued growth of industry volunteerism, as each year more insurance professionals make volunteering a priority and give of their time and talent in helping those in need.”

After twenty-five years, we are incredibly privileged to have the continued support and involvement of IICF founders, Bruce Basso and Jim Woods, along with original board members in several divisions. For these years of ongoing dedication and leadership, IICF is deeply grateful.

Throughout the year IICF will be commemorating our anniversary year in creative ways, and with the IICF Anniversary Fund, we hope to raise additional funds to help communities and enrich lives.

“We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.”
– Sir Winston Churchill

IICF Philanthropic Showcase Highlights Insurance Giving Back

Throughout the past year, insurance companies and industry professionals have demonstrated remarkable commitment to helping communities and individuals in need through IICF, including an unprecedented response following the devastation caused by hurricanes and wildfires. Highlights of these contributions are featured in the second annual edition of the IICF Insurance Industry Philanthropic Showcase, including community outreach programs undertaken by eleven of the IICF Key Partner Companies.

IICF Key Partner Companies are those with Board of Directors representation across three or more of IICF’s five divisions, along with serving on the IICF Board of Governors. These companies, individually and working in cooperation with IICF, have supported a wide array of communities, causes and nonprofit and charitable organizations with exceptional volunteer, fundraising and outreach support.

Featuring: AIG, Chubb, CNA, Farmers Insurance, HUB International, Lloyd’s, Mayer Brown, Munich Re, Swiss Re, The Hartford and Zurich North America.

We’re pleased to welcome Assurant and XL Catlin as IICF Key Partner Companies.
